Congratulations on successfully completing the Certified ScrumMaster (CSM) class last week online! I hope you found it enjoyable, valuable, and fun. I certainly enjoyed guiding and helping you through your journey of learning Scrum. I have registered you with Scrum Alliance and you should shortly receive an email from them with your login id and a temp password and instructions on how to take the CSM exam. If you do not receive the email from Scrum Alliance, please check your junk mail folder just in case it has ended up in there; and if not, please let me know.

I would recommend re-reading the course materials, the Scrum Guide, and the Manifesto for Agile Software Development before taking the exam.

Once you log onto the site, you will be able to take the CSM exam. Just follow the directions for the exam. It will test your understanding of key Scrum elements, including Scrum Basics - the principles of Scrum and the Scrum framework; Events - Sprint Review, Sprint Planning Meeting, Daily Scrum, and Sprint Retrospective; Roles - Scrum Team, Product Owner, ScrumMaster roles and responsibilities and Artefacts - Product Backlog, Sprint Backlog, the potentially shippable Product Increment. It consists of multiple-choice and true/false questions, and you will have 1 hour to complete the exam.

I hope that you continue to learn about Scrum and agile and that you can apply what you learned. I encourage you to explore and learn more. You may find that there is a local Scrum group in your area by looking at http://scrumalliance.org/user_groups. There is much to learn. You can always contact me or find someone who can help you. Your journey can either continue or end here. I hope you decide to continue.

I also hope that you will, in the future, continue your learning about Scrum and consider the more advanced certifications (A-CSM and CSP-SM) from Scrum Alliance. Details of the advanced education offerings can be found on the Scrum Alliance web site, or you can contact me directly if you would like to continue your Scrum education with me.

I have attached a PDF document containing all the Murals we produced during the class, the slides used during the class and an article that I hope you will find interesting, and a suggested reading list.

I would also be very grateful if you would take a few minutes to give me some feedback using this form.

Please do let me know if you have any questions or if there is anything I can do to help you in the future. Best wishes and hopes in your use of Scrum. Do it well, and help others do it well, too. Know that it is hard to do it well, but we know it is worth the effort.

Kind regards,

Iain
